Job is back

Official Website

jobisback is my private and limitless playground.

A means of personal expression, allowing me to materialize and share my feelings as well as my vision of the world.

Driven by the search of simplicity in complexity, I depict, through my productions, my past, present, future, real or fantasized life experiences.

Allowing for others' total freedom of interpretation, I especially want to create the music I've always dreamed of listening to.

Often rock, sometimes pop or ambient, always rich in energy and emotion.
